Purpose of this document

The purpose of this document is to list the minimum obligations of all Internet Gaming Operators and Gaming-Related Suppliers (GRS) operating in Ontario to notify the Alcohol & Gaming Commission of Ontario (AGCO).

These notification requirements may not be comprehensive and do not supersede the Gaming Control Act, 1992, applicable Regulations, the Registrar's Standards for Internet Gaming, Terms of Registration, or any other AGCO requirements.

The minimum notification obligations listed herein are not intended to replace ongoing, open, and transparent communication between Operators, GRS, and the AGCO. This document represents a shift consistent with the Standards-Based Approach and away from traditional prescriptive notification scenarios. Registrants must use sound judgment and discretion to identify circumstances requiring notification.

For ease of reference, the minimum notification obligations outlined within this document are organized into two distinct categories, Incident Notifications and Regulatory Submissions, as defined in this matrix.

If a single event triggers multiple notification obligations requiring the same information, registrants should submit one notification under the most specific applicable obligation. If the notification obligations require different information in respect of the same event, registrants must comply with each obligation.

In the case of any technical issues that limit your ability to submit notifications through iAGCO, all notification submissions should be submitted by email to notifications@agco.ca.
